Why Use a Learning Management System?

Overview

Recent times have shown that the need for training will never go away, even when the more traditional means of delivery are not available.

When, for whatever reason, the classroom can't be reached, a good Learning Management System will provide learners with all of the information and support that they need, whilst giving managers the oversight to monitor progress and course uptake.

The Ligtas Learning Management System (LMS) is a platform which can support all of your company's learning content. It enables the documentation, tracking, reporting and delivery of training courses from enrolment to final completion.

Staff can easily view and book onto training, whilst management can access a suite of detailed reports accessible on any internet-connected desktop, tablet or mobile. The Ligtas LMS is beautifully designed and helps you know what's working, who's compliant, what training has been completed and more.

Training materials which are hosted on the Ligtas LMS provide flexible, modern learning which enables businesses to have a fully engaged and knowledgeable workforce. No matter the size of your organisation, even for small businesses, the LMS can be tailored to suit your needs.

Benefits

Some online learning systems require a significant level of technical knowledge, but the intuitive Ligtas LMS is designed in such a way that anyone should be able to use it.

With time now being such a valuable commodity, the Ligtas LMS takes the worry out of the recording and reporting of mandatory training. For organisations who would like their employees to complete online training, the Ligtas LMS allows for quick, easy analysis and reporting of delegates statistics.
